RESPECT WORKS TRAINING OVERVIEW

The Respect Works Training Program is designed to help jobsite leaders develop the skills they need to model and reinforce respectful workplace behavior on the jobsite every day. Our evidence-based program revolves around the four core elements of a respectful workplace: psychological safety, civility and professionalism, welcoming workplaces, and fairness for all.

Each self-paced, online training module explores a core element of respect in the workplace:

Module 1 - Psychological Safety: Build psychological safety on the jobsite so workers feel comfortable raising concerns, sharing ideas, and addressing problems. 20 minutes.

Module 2 - Civility and Professionalism: Strengthen civility and professionalism on the jobsite, navigate disagreements, and create a workplace where people communicate respectfully and work well together. 15 minutes.

Module 3 – Welcoming Workplace: Take steps to create a welcoming workplace that values different backgrounds and perspectives, strengthens teamwork, and gives everyone the opportunity to contribute. 15 minutes.

Module 4 – Fairness for All: Learn practical strategies for avoiding favoritism, creating clear expectations for jobsite behavior, and making fair and consistent decisions. 15 minutes.

Pricing Options:

Training Seats: Purchase the number of seats you will need with no minimum order.

- Access to all 4 course modules plus the supplemental Mental Health course
- Ideal if you have less than 100 learners
- Easy online access
- Downloadable tools and resources
- Use of training for 6 months
- Oregon Training Agents FREE
- All other $100/learner

Source files: Purchase the source files for use on your own learning management system.

- Source files for all 4 course modules plus the supplemental Mental Health course
- Ideal for companies that have more than 100 learners
- Unlimited use of the training for your company
- Downloadable tools and resources
- Branding and customization available

If you are an Oregon company and serve as training agent for apprentices, contact us to let us know so we can give you FREE access to the training.